

(Washington, D.C.) U.S. Rep. Mike Coffman, R-Aurora, released the following statement regarding "No Budget, No Pay":

"It has been four long years since the U.S. Senate has passed a budget. This failure to fulfill one of the most basic responsibilities of governing must come to an end. Today the House of Representatives voted to provide a temporary extension of the debt limit with the condition that if a budget is not passed by the statutory deadline, members will forego pay. The budget is a 10 year time frame that will show the American people whether they have a plan to put our country further into debt or on a path to solvency. I supported the No Budget, No Pay legislation because I believe Congress must be held accountable, and this legislation does just that."

Published January 23, 2013